Endolift and ultherapy for the best face and neck non-surgical lifting

Roberto Dell'Avanzato
Health Wellness & Spa, Italy

Introduction: The study evaluates the personal results after 13 years of Endolift Laser technique for the “soft” rejuvenation of face and neck, using a very thin optical fibre connected to a diode laser, combined in the last years with Ultherapy®.

Methods: I reported my personal experience with Endolift technique using a 1470nm diode laser, for the treatment of skin laxity of the face and the neck. A 200-300 micron fiber is easily inserted, without any incisions or anesthetic, under the skin directly in the superficial hypo-derma. After, a Ultherapy® session is performed again without any anesthesia. No elastic garment or any other therapy is necessary.

Results: The areas of skin laxity of the face and the neck, can benefits from the possibility that the diode laser has to retract the skin and remodel the derma, activate the collagen production. Ultherapy® helps to obtain the maximum result possible working more deeply the middle and deep hypo-derma up to the muscular fascia, permitting to obtain an immediate and a long-term lifting.

Conclusions: Endolift laser combined with Ultherapy® is the the best non-surgical treatment for the areas of muscular and skin laxity of the face and the neck.
