New face experience: How to treat the global face for natural results

Tiziana Lazzari

Medical Center CML Lazzari, Italy

Today thanks to the efficiency of fillers and botulinum toxin and progress in injection techniques it's possible to achieve natural, visible younger-looking skin. Combining hyaluronic acid filling with calcium hydroxyapatite, PDO threads and botulinum toxin in a right way is granted to give a younger look maintaining natural appearance and preserving facial emotions. Depending on the facial type and the age of the patient, I treat all the face in a personal way using the same products in a different dosage and with a different technique. The right product in the right place is the only way to allow patient to experience a new face and to look younger, a new found beauty in one session with no downtime.
