

4th International Conference and Expo on Cosmetology & Trichology June 22-24, 2015 Philadelphia, USA

New philosophy approach at cosmetic procedure

Arianna Di Stadio

National Security Agency of Medicines and Health Products, France

Aim: Looking for a new approach for anti-aging patients.

Background: During my experience I understood the importance of patient global care, typically patient in cosmetic antiage procedure who wants only a one shoot procedure, like biorivitalization or filler injection. I propose to my patients a global care. In my presentation I will explain which aspect to consider, the rules to respect and obtain great result in medical aesthetic procedure. I The author introduced this concept in France and in Italy to establish the importance of medicine also in the cosmetic approach.

Biography

Arianna Di Stadio completed her surgery practice in France. She is specialized in Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery, ENT, and Microsurgery. She is a clinical researcher, after she completed her PhD in Audiology and new technology in deafness from Rome University in the year 2007. She has conducted different research protocols in the field of Head & Neck Oncology and Neuroscience. She is a member of ANSM (National Security Agency of Medicines and Health Products), France. She collaborates with different Italian University to develop research protocols addressed in different topics.

ariannadistadio@hotmail.com

Notes: