

30th International Conference on

Dental Science & Advanced Dentistry

May 22-23, 2017 Las Vegas, USA

Armen Mardirossian

Diplomate, American Board Periodontology, USA

Enhancing clinical outcomes with natural organic biological enhancers and growth factors

Learning Objectives to be covered and understood by participants would be:

- Fundamental science behind grafting materials available, biological modifiers and human derived growth factors
- Historical background and development of autologous blood concentrates
- Clinical indications and protocol for L-PRF in variety of case scenarios
- Identifying and managing complications
- Post –operative care and follow up

Biography

Armen Mardirossian has received his Dental degree from The Royal London Hospital Medical College, University of London, England in 1991. After 6 years in hospital based dentistry and family based general dental practice in London, he completed his Dental Specialty Residency training in Periodontics & Implant Surgery at the University of Southern California in 2000. He has further obtained his Master's degree in Craniofacial Biology from the University of Southern California in 2000. As a Diplomate of the American Board Periodontology since 2004; he maintains membership with the following professional organizations, as he continues to expand his periodontal knowledge and expertise: American Academy Periodontology, American Board of Periodontology, American Academy Osseointegration; Tri-County Dental Society, California Dental Association as well as American Dental Association. He has publications in the Journal of Periodontal Research (2000) and Journal of Clinical Periodontology (2001). He is the recipient of the California Society Periodontology outstanding research award in 2000; he was part time Assistant Professor at USC, Advanced Periodontology Department from 2000-2004 and at Western University, College Dental Medicine from 2009-2015. He and his enthused staff maintain a private practice limited to Periodontics and Implant Surgery in Chino valley, CA since 2000.

drm@scperioimplant.com

Notes: