Cannabis therapeutics: Ancient methodologies emerging

Constance Finley
Constance Pure Botanical Extracts, USA

Over the past decade, there have been significant advances in the field of cannabis research, its legalization and its use as a medicine. The plant produces over 85 different compounds called cannabinoids; the best known of these are THC and CBD. Their biological effects are as diverse as the rules governing them from country to country or state to state. Their study and usage covers a wide range of ages, diseases and biological targets, from cancer to diabetes to insomnia. In this talk, I will discuss my story of becoming a leader in the industry, common myths surrounding cannabis, case studies from her past seven years experience, what makes cannabis such a unique and broadly helpful herbal therapeutic, and what's next as we enter a world more open to utilizing the benefits of this ancient plant.
