

Editor Note

Jehad Adwan *

Clinical assistant professor, University of Minnesota
School of Nursing, Minneapolis, MN, USA

*Corresponding Author:

Jehad Adwan

University of Minnesota School of Nursing,
Minneapolis, MN, USA

Email: jehad.adwan@mnsu.edu

Visit for more related articles at Journal of Leukemia.

Dear Readers,

We are pleased to bring you the third issue of 2020. Along with few original papers and review papers, for this issue we decided to acknowledge the contributions during this COVID-19 crisis.

Journal of leukemia comes under the top ten journals in this open access field. In 2020, we have already released two issues and now we are in the process of releasing another issue.

In the past years, apart from releasing regular issues at present, our main focus is to make scientific papers more accessible for aspiring researchers. With the support of Editorial board members, Executive editors and Guest Editors, we are planning to come up with interesting special issue topics to encourage the authors.

Our journal was founded to help junior researchers and authors from developing countries learn about the rigour involved in preparing a manuscript for publication and in getting published. We remain committed to that objective. As well, we continue to receive more papers from leading researchers from all countries, which is a testament to our commitment to quality.

Thank you, to the editorial board members who have supported the journal since its inception and who continue to promote its growth. And to the reviewers, we appreciate the time you dedicate to ensuring papers meet our standards for scientific quality and integrity.

Finally, Journal of Leukemia sincerely appreciates each and every member for their valuable service in this Publication Process. We always look forward to work with many young scientists across the globe.