Social media/digital marketing

The journal always was in contact with the scientific group of the world through its mails, social media networks and its digital platforms. Some of the best ways to be in contact with

The audiences' are:

1. Twitter postings: Regularly posting the articles, trends, updates of the journal.
2. Posting Google Analytics data in the website.

3. Using LinkedIn and Facebook for regular updates.

4. Regularly being in contact not only through mails but also through Whatsapp.

The complete details about the journal can be seen at: <https://www.longdom.org/leukemia.html> and for contacting us, mail us or WhatsApp us.

So, as an Editor, I invite all the extended dignitaries in this field to submit their articles for bringing this research/expertise to the global scientific community.
