Short Communication

Ethos and Ethics : Good Governance

Jawad Amjad[*]

Department of city grammer public school. Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, Pakistan

ABSTRACT

Good Governance is basically a popular word which acquired eminence in 21st century, with advancement of technology. It is basically a powerful tool for the betterment of human civilization. It is a best friendly phenomena that end the gap between the state and his stakeholder's .In the other hand bad or poor governance creates the conflicts and problems for the people of state and it also creates the disrupting in the development and state.

Keywords: Good governance, State, Technology, Revolution and Development.

INTRODUCTION

Over the centuries, the principles of democracy have been widely given. It stands out by everyone as well as in all administrative functions. Government policy is aimed to be reached Regardless of all levels of society, low, medium or high caste, beliefs and other dominant factors prevalent in society. Rupees Crores and Crores are spent on various projects it is implemented by the government for the benefit of the target audience. However, the results of this project did not meet expectations. Governing body. Despite attempts to reach all stakeholders available resources in every possible way the so-called efficient and ineffective result 'cannot be determined and tracing the real causes becomes a daunting task country. Given the current scenario, the need for governance comes to an end government perceived as impending driving force overcome this obstacle. Good governance philosophy recognized by experts as the most effective tool for success sustainable development, meeting the needs of humanity and building a civilized society. Since then the principle of courtesy governance is important in almost all aspects of management and it becomes one of the most defended theories in this field. Governance work and its effects are equivalent to the concept of democracy and its implementation. How this government and civil society is make decisions and implementation of decisions in meeting their needs. So these are two Decision making processes are branched and the procedures to be followed implementation of this decision. But with time and the emergence of technology, it is felt the government system needs to take a step forward come out from the boundary of just decision-making and implementing.

REFERENCES

1. Bardy R. Journal of Political Sciences & Public Affairs.
2. Saha A. Journal of Political Sciences & Public Affairs.
3. Salman MB. Journal of Political Sciences & Public Affairs.
4. Odisu TA. Journal of Political Sciences & Public Affairs.
5. Masiha S, Habiba U, Abbas Z, Saud M, Ariadi S. Exploring the link between the use of facebook and political participation among youth in Pakistan. Journal of Political Sciences & Public Affairs. 2018;6(1): 1-7.
6. Blount CD. Journal of Political Sciences & Public Affairs.
7. Bashir R. Journal of Political Sciences & Public Affairs.
8. Bojang AS. Journal of Political Sciences & Public Affairs.
9. Abdulkabir OS. Journal of Political Sciences & Public Affairs.
10. Hemaadri SR. Journal of Political Sciences & Public Affairs.