DESCRIPTION

As long as lives continue to exist in this hemisphere, quest to make printable contributions to political engagements are duty bound on any individual in order to live closely to the desires in most occasions. Politics has become the forerunner of human engagements without a core subject to be mastery. It is well understood how a man is full of politics on issues surrounding his life and doings every day. To understand raw meaning of humans and the struggles to achieve desires, activism, the singular approach to activate strategies to defend desires is made a whole. The most intelligent way to secure human desire is through advocations and admonitions, the two powerful agents of activism. A thing underscore for oneself is as same to others. From one angle to another, that is how air travels. One of the plain reasons to involve in political circle is hugely labeled on matters having power to elevate and eradicate valuable features of human existence and one of the plain understandings to involve in political circle is to breathe on collective efforts and manipulations that establish full meaning and picture of life. Therefore, invariably, paramount must it accord to bring essential features of activism towards the work of minds and hearts-this is a solid reference and singular embracer, is the art of constructing valuable and reasonable politics in the middle of societal activators. An average level of leniency is best introduced in political pursuit to see where to possibly land if the race become more confusing. This in general facilitates amiable governance. So, rooms to make withdrawal to establish a group to help align your political views and appropriations is wider, and becoming a political slave is no longer creditable. To the statement, trying to make a good politician of an era, there are some securities needed to aid bringing to nothing of the hard principles and doctrines planted and activated by the unfortunate politicians of the time. The unfortunate politicians have built themselves things that lure others especially the new politicians into their custody to promote continuous oppressions over the masses or citizens. In making reasonable thing to offer good status of oneself in the political corridor of the moment, strong-headed in addition to intelligent approaches bigger to command new doctrines and acts (bill) is most need able. To question the wisdom of this, human rights activists and inspirational/motivational speakers are to live steadily in political circle to command and encourage revolutionary system in every occasion as suitable to each corners of governance. It is more taken to have people deliberating on the natures they are to be ruled to that of imposing self-deliberate opinions to pilot the multitudes. So, this mentioned group of people can help maximize the point.

Now, people of good hearts are not given mandates for political positions. Politics has become an occupation of true individuals with spiritual powers, guiding their lives and requiring various sacrifices. Their continuous desires to siphon the societal materialisms has bought huge evil manipulations, moral decadence, intruders, hoodlums, bribery and corruption and the host alike in politics simply to make trade of desires. The alarming rate is recruiting difficulties on the citizens. The future of their doings is not promising. The common thing among them is to bring down anyone trying to introduce strange thing aside their well appreciated natures into government or politics. The continuous silence over this is the beginning of losing the purpose of living and the existence of bringing reproach in our lives. To them, it propagates their plans and maintains their political desires. They have nothing essentials to us, rather, we, the boasters of their wealth, are more productive. It is on this manner, putting so much in political articles and books, embracing youths to work in close rank with the human rights activists and inspirational/motivational speakers for easy understanding on collective efforts to introduce new policies in our government, charging the political scientists and analysts to check improper aspects of the constitution, admonishing youths to make refusal of building securities for the ill-hearted politicians and trying to introduce public platform to question politicians of their achievements upon their political propaganda and the host alike. My major reason to continue to strengthen my efforts to see desirable governance, which I am so certain shall be of great help to the citizens, must not case. To me, the only reason we live for tomorrow is our desire to work on things having effects to bring real meaning of life to others. Therefore, living a life of benefits for others should become our stipulated endeavors.

In my knowledge, politics is an industrialized phenomenon. Having this great effect on humans, there are numerous reasons to question it originality, to make it produce strange and distribute distribute numerous effects. This has made politics a center of human study; because, the environmental engagements are subject to the fate and faith of politics. To take part in a collective thing, one must be prepared to meet the standard of colleagues to claim a portion. This is where an issue of politics begins, because, not all are strong enough to withstand fellow humans following different ways of upbringings, the manner of self-discovery, the level of confidence and manner of approaches. So, it has made it possible to be cheated in the race of politics.

Through the lives of others, our Creator has made it possible for us to live more comfortably and better. Human rights activists and inspirational/motivational speakers are now the hosts in today's societies, while the underprivileged are parasites.

And as long as the parasites continue to acknowledge the efforts and effects of the hosts in their lives, the hosts get more universal courage and inspirations to do more.

Let's make politics a home-based adventure, I truly admit. Let us use politics a tool for changing one another for the betterment of humanity. We are nothing without politics. The same happens to politics. The government should be recognized for her willingness to spend time on the same worktop as civilian populations. Making politics a taste and touch of all in the societies will be the best thing ever for humans as that create room of receiving ideologies, opinions, views and hypotheses from all, and inside them, are things that make living more beautiful and meaningful.
