INTRODUCTION

In day to day competition life it is very essential to become our stable position by the theory of politics. Not only in sales and marketing business which uses politics principles, but also our career growth along with position any stream helpful us to use politics. Simply in advertising a leading successive person uses for product poster then everyone will purchase that product none of it's by seeing its quality. The word politics is nothing but war of things. Suppose if microlevel science atomic combination of hydrogen and oxygen yields rain formation by politics as politician power that makes by profession king. Again cold war also part of politics suppose a king don't want to do war or not to participate in war directly then cold war silent war continues. Some political parties vision and mission is based on principle against corruption and other some parties against rape. So ruling is based on their promises.
