ABSTRACT

Forehead experiences sex. On earth sex moves T shaped forehead. It covers online relationships with sensuous attraction. It could include discussing love, desires, feelings towards each other, or having passionate conversations. It indicates that during online conversations, private information has constantly being shared over the Internet. And probably suspect, privacy and security can become an issue. To ensure safe virtual sex and dating to take to heart: Online dating demands to be extra cautious because what has getting indulged in is the world of virtual reality which can be deceiving as well. While the virtual personality of someone might please, never know how it will present them in the offline world. Which means are not experiencing the full spectrum of someone's personality? This 'edited' state of being can be fake as well. So, be extra sure before run away with the fantasies that are the embodiment of perfection! Though betrayals, cheating and lies happen in real life too, it can happen more easily online. Choose the right tools. Before plan to move to the next step in virtual relationship, be sure choosing a platform that ensures extra security. The app or tool that use for online dating must be independent, end-to-end encrypted, and should have no scope of third party intervention. Also, never take a chance if ever the other person exhibits threatening behaviour or give the impression that safety might be at risk. Nothing bad in being a paranoid shooter will matters the most! Want to hide face or any identifiable features while communicating in a video call, do not hesitate in discussing that to online dating partner. It has normal if do not want to reveal identity to someone just met or someone do not know that well while having overwhelming conversations should not be compromised. Also, make sure to watermark the content that you are sending.
