EDITORIAL

Being a respectable editor of Journal of Clinical and Cellular Immunology (JCCI), I am very glad to present the Volume 11, Issue 7 of our journal. JCCI journal was started in 2010 and has completed in publishing more than 70 issues with more than 10 special issues and more than 900 articles. Till now our journal supposed to release 6 issues per year and now we expanded and we are trying to release 7 issues per year along with 5 special issues. The journal focuses on providing most comprehensive and reliable information in all areas of immunology. I am pleased to announce that, all issues of the 11th volume was published online well within the time and the print issues were also brought out and dispatched within 30 days of publishing the issue online during the year of 2020.

Average article views are increasing and at least 40 views are noted for the article on an average. We also providing the readership metrics on a monthly basis on our journal home-page and also providing the citation report of our already published articles.

Journal of Clinical and Cellular Immunology functions on principles of scientific excellence, publication ethics and transparency. It makes mediatory that every article is submitted only through the online manuscript submission and review system. Our editorial board who are our professional bodies have given guidelines related to publication ethics and conflict of interests. A total of 50 research scientists from all over the world reviewed the 15 articles published in volume 11. Average publication lag time of an article was further reduced to 2-3 weeks.

The editorial team made the review process even more stringent. The respective associate editor assigned seven eminent experts from India and abroad as reviewers. The review and revision process took 14 days. The decision of final acceptance was taken on 14th date after initial submission.

The article was published online 21st day after submission. The editorial team declares that there was no competing interest. This article followed routine peer review process and its publication is entirely based on merit.
